

WHY CHOOSE THE GUILD?

At The Unemployed Philosophers Guild, it is our mission to tickle clever brains and funny bones with smart and silly gifts. For over three decades, we've created unique products that celebrate literature, science, history, math, art, and pop culture with a solid sense of humor (at least, we think so).

Retailers choose The Unemployed Philosophers Guild because our products stand out. Customers pick up our gifts and don't put them back down. From our bestselling heat-changing mugs to our brilliant mints, each item in our catalog balances our signature wit with thoughtful design.

We craft our products with stores in mind, creating easy-to-merchandise display packaging that is perfect for endcaps, impulse purchases, and those weird little corners where you never know what to do. We let our intellectual passions and offbeat interests serve as our guiding light, which is why our goods feel at home in gift shops, bookstores, museum stores, and specialty shops. Our obsessions match your store's niche.

Over the years, we have been proud to establish long-standing partnerships with beloved cultural icons, creating licensed products for inspirational figures and franchises like Albert Einstein, Bob Ross, Mister Rogers, Monty Python, Star Trek, and many more.

Put this all together and the results are a collection of gifts that feel both timeless and fresh, with products that speak to curious minds of all ages.
